3 wounded in police seige of LA militants

LOS ANGELES—The latest attack on Black Panthers saw over 300 police lay siege to the militants' local headquarters during a four-hour confrontation extended by the employment of guns, hand grenades, tear gas and dynamite.

As smoke began clearing after the Monday night battle, three bullet-riddled Panthers were rushed to hospitals while nine others were carted off to jail. Three policemen sustained wounds.

Meanwhile, NAACP and CORE leaders have demanded a federal investigation of such shootouts which are becoming frequent around the country. They especially noted the fact 28 reputed members of the organization have been killed by authorities this year.

Even Assistant Police Chief Robert Houghton, head of the 40-man task force which swarmed the headquarters in Monday's incident, admitted maybe the wrong tactics were used.

Say racial tensions on the rise in the military

SAIGON—A Pentagon civil rights specialist said last week he believes the U.S. armed forces will be "sitting on a dangerous situation" unless they find ways to improve communications and relations between black and white servicemen.

Ending a week's visit to Vietnam L. Howard Bennett, acting deputy assistant secretary of defense for civil rights, said he found white officers lacked "sensitivity, knowledge and understanding of the whole movement of black pride."

Bennett headed an eight-man team of investigators that toured military bases and interviewed some 500 servicemen, three-fourths of them black.

Their general conclusion, Bennett reported as the group left for Thailand, was that although racial unrest may be subsiding in American society, it is on the rise in the military.

One reason, he said, is that

Teachers need new attitudes

Effective education for persons of the inner city, principally Negroes, requires a change of attitude by the classroom teacher, according to a St. Louis superintendent.

Dr. Samuel Shepard Jr., who describes his district as "poor" the inner city, the real McCoy" believes this change of attitude is taking place in St. Louis.

"We have learned to look at students as individuals rather than according to their behavior," he said.

Shepard spoke to members of the Indiana Classroom Teachers Association, meeting here Saturday on the matter of "human relations in the classroom."

Too many students are taught according to their IQs, and teachers too often pass by the boy or girl who is not very bright, Shepard said.

"It's difficult to respect the kid low on the totem pole" he said. But he said this is what must be done if the students

Violence unit blasts civil disobedience

WASHINGTON - A bare majority of the National Violence Commission—publicly divided for the first time—condemned Monday the use of massive civil disobedience as a tactic to change the law.

A six-member minority of the commission—including its two Negroes—contended that the tactic, when practiced without violence, is perhaps the only effective means of overturning unjust laws.

The commission divided over the kinds of disobedience—restaurant sit-ins and violation of segregation laws—that led to enactment of major civil rights legislation of the 1960s.

Speaking for the seven-man majority, Houston attorney Leon Jaworski said its views were a direct of those instances of disobedience.

"We suggest," the majority said, "that if in good faith the constitutionality of a statute, ordinance or court decree is to be challenged, it can be done effectively by one individual or a small group. While the judicial test is in progress, all other dissenters should abide by the law involved until it is declared unconstitutional."

Disputing that argument, U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., who is black said:

"If the majority doctrine of 'everyone wait until the outcome of the one individual test case' had been applied by black Americans in the 1960s, probably not one per cent major civil rights statute would have been enacted."

Needy children to get shoes at Shriner's party

The annual Christmas party, sponsored by Persian Temple Shriners (Prince Hall affiliation) for underprivileged children will be held Saturday, Dec. 14, at 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. The party will be held in the Prince Hall Masonic Temple, Walnut and West Sts.

Children attending the party will be served with refreshments, but this year, rather than a turkey dinner, 1,000 children will be given a pair of shoes. The chairman of the Christmas committee, Lee W. Smith observed that this year the committee decided something that would last longer.

Another member of the Christmas committee, William Stovall, Jr., observed that about 450 children have been invited on basis of information supplied by the county welfare department. However, the party will be open to any needy children accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Former local woman slain in Chicago

A 25-year-old former Indianapolis woman was found shot to death in her Chicago apartment last Wednesday. The body of Miss Beverly Young was discovered sprawled across the bed in the bedroom of her apartment by a co-worker at the Chicago Urban Training Center who had become concerned because she had not reported for work for several days.

The victim's body was fully clad except for a skirt and a pillow covered her head. Chicago homicide detectives said on autopsy revealed the victim had been shot twice in the face and once in the chest. They theorized the pillow had been used to muffle the sound of the shots.

The detectives estimated she had been dead more than three days when the body was discovered.

Police probe narcotics angle in youth's death

Detectives continued this week to probe the circumstances surrounding the death of a 19-year-old youth whose nude body was found early Sunday morning in the hallway of a fashionable Northeastside apartment complex.

The dead youth was identified as David Michael Jones, 2958 Washington Blvd.

Police have speculated that Jones, who was clad only in a pair of socks, died either from an overdose of narcotics or an embol caused when air is forced into the bloodstream. Jones and Miss Marianne Brewbaker, a 25-year-old white woman, had just been released from jail Friday after being arrested last month on narcotics charges.

Miss Brewbaker told police that Jones had been "helping her move" when she heard a noise and then found Jones lying in the hallway outside her apartment. He was dead when police arrived.

Jones was arrested Nov. 6 when police armed with a search warrant went to Miss Brewbaker's apartment after receiving a tip that narcotics were on the premises.

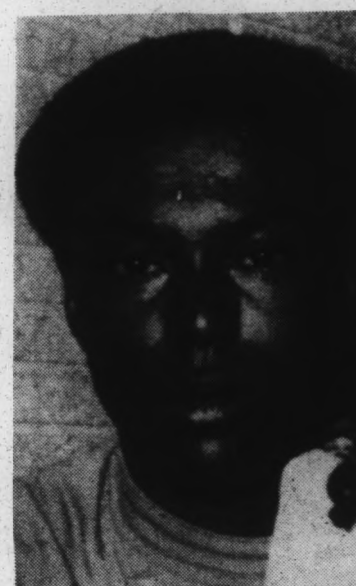

Narcotics officers said they found Jones alone in the apartment along with a "large quantity of marijuana and other dangerous drugs."

Miss Brewbaker was arrested on a warrant the next day.

Mr. Dennis Nichols, the Marion County coroner, told The Recorder on Thursday that the preliminary results of an autopsy conducted on Jones' body were inconclusive but that further "tissue studies" were being made in an effort to determine if death had been caused by an overdose of narcotics.

He added however, that there were a sufficient number of needle marks known in the narcotics world as "tracks" on Jones' body to indicate that he was a "mainliner" or regular user of narcotics.

Jones also had another case pending against him in court for violation of the 1935 Narcotics Act. Funeral services for Jones were to have been conducted Saturday at the King and King Funeral Home.

A 48-year-old Haughville man, who police believe to be mentally deranged shot and killed his wife then critically wounded his teenage son Monday night—only hours after being released from the Marion County Jail where he had served a 15-day sentence on a disorderly conduct conviction.

Ironically, police had sought to have the accused slayer, George James, 745 N. Sheffield, committed for mental observation at the time of his arrest last month but the victim, Mrs. Ronella James, 42, had refused to sign the commitment papers at that time.

James' son, Turner James, remained in critical condition in Marion County General Hospital Thursday.

CHICAGO—The question of whether Illinois' Black Panther's leader was killed in a shootout with police or murdered while asleep was brought to light this week by the Louisville Courier-Journal & Times.

As a related outgrowth, the Justice Department, at the request of an Illinois lawmaker, has indicated it might probe the possibility police are being unusually harsh, aggressive and "trigger-happy" in their frequent confrontations with the militant party throughout the country.

In a copywright article, sources were quoted as saying a "private autopsy" proved beyond a doubt that Fred Hampton was shot to death as he slept.

Making the allegations were a Negro alderman and attorneys for the Black Panther Party apparently dissatisfied with police conclusions from the death of Hampton, said

Taxi driver indicted for widow's slaying

A young taxi driver has been indicted in the bloody, sadistic murder of a 77-year-old widow, committed during the past summer.

Named in the first-degree murder indictment returned last week by the County Grand Jury was Joseph Reese, 23, 2339 N. Broadway.

He is accused of killing Mrs. Ivy Ghee, 1423 Montcalm, Police, summoned by a neighbor who became suspicious after not seeing the elderly lady for several days, found Mrs. Ghee's mutilated body August 13.

Detectives said she had been sexually mutilated with a broom stick and a bottle. Her nude body was found lying on the bed in a front bedroom of the neat frame bungalow where she lived alone.

Robbery was immediately considered as a motive and authorities theorized the victim knew her killer since there were no signs of a struggle or forced entry. Reese's parents lived next door to Mrs. Ghee.

The suspect was arrested weeks later at Peru. Authorities became suspicious of him a few days after the killing when a policeman stopped his cab for a traffic offense and noticed several credit cards belonging to the dead woman lying in the front seat. He told them they had been left by a passenger. Named in another murder indictment was Frank Fisher, 35, 1910 Bellefontaine. The charge stems from the shooting death of Herman Fitzgerald, 33, killed October 20 at his home, 2015 N. Sheldon. The August 23 death of a 22-year-old man, shot as he

Training of hard-core unemployed is failing

NEW YORK - Efforts to train the hard-core are failing and an eminent industrial psychologist who studied the problem for two years points out several complex factors related to the unsuccessful programs.

Dr. J.W. Lawrie, writing in the November issue of Psychology Today, said that business leaders may intend to succeed but anywhere from 10 to 50 per cent of those enrolled in their training schemes are flunking out and corporation executives don't seem to know why.

Dr. Lawrie was able to make basic conclusions as a follow-up to his two-year study of the hard-core unemployed at General Motors Institute in Flint, Mich.

Pointed out as contributing factors to the plight of the hard-core unemployed were supervisors who lean over backwards to help trainees and "smother them in a well-meant featherbed of dependence" and industry's failure to make an in-depth commitment, both financially and psychologically, to cure the emotional ills of the hard-core trainee.

"Industry has started a lot more programs than we've heard about for assisting the hard-core unemployed," comments Editor T. George Harris.

"Some of them are very good ones. The danger is that businessmen won't follow through and correct programs that aren't working."

In his article, "Making It The Hardest Way," Dr. Lawrie, now an associate professor of psychology at Washburn College, Ind., says industry's failure at training ghetto blacks has received "too little attention because of our desire to prove we really are doing something."

The industrial psychologist asserts: "Programs aimed at bringing the white employed and black unemployed closer together may unknowingly serve to drive them further apart."

Hard-core blacks who flunk training schemes also do so because, "First, the unemployed black may be psychologically defeated, convinced of his lack of worth and anxious about making it in the white world. These feelings can block his response to skills training. Dropouts from many programs apparently are victims of such self-defeat. They need deep therapy that they will never get."

Dr. Lawrie concludes: "Companies will have to learn to tolerate short-run productivity losses as more hard-core people are brought into the work force. Skills training is not enough."

"There is a whole domain of acculturation that has to be programmed. It takes time and experience to learn the game of work: Concepts of time, work values and breaking-out of the ghetto ethic all are slowly and painfully learned."

School board meet ends on note of conflict

ANDERSON - The president of the city school board, DeVar Litten adjourned a meeting last week that lasted about 20 minutes with about 100 persons attending.

Mr. Litten invited any representative of any group present to speak for five minutes. The president of the local chapter of the NAACP, Odell Thorns, the first speaker discussed previous reported discrimination in the school system.

Thorns asked the school board to take immediate action on issues involving dress codes, transportation, lack of black studies, black instructors and disciplinary codes in the schools.

Darrell Wright, a representative of the local Black Student Society was the next speaker, eventually he observed that changes must be made in regards to situation under protest. He declared, "blacks will no longer suffer alone in Anderson."

But when another member of the group, Mameul Hunt started to speak, Litten noted that a representative of the group had already addressed the meeting. When he asked Hunt to stop speaking, Hunt avowed, "I'm going to speak, what are you going to do about it."

The president of the board abruptly adjourned the meeting. Police were called but the people attending the meeting had disbanded.

Urge Atty. Gen. to repudiate aide's bias

NEW YORK--U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell has been urged to repudiate anti-integrationist statements attributed to Ben Holman, director of the Community Relations Service in the Department of Justice. Failure to do so, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins said in a letter to the Attorney General, gives the impression "that the anti-integration policy is that of the Nixon administration."

Wilkins' letter cited a newspaper account of a television program during which Holman is quoted as having said that integration is an "unrealistic and unwish goal." Further he is quoted as having instructed his field staff not "to go into the big cities of this country and talk about integration."

The agency has seven regional offices and is active in 27 cities.

Holman's pronouncements, the NAACP leader told the Attorney General, "are subject to the interpretation that they reflect the policy of the Department unless they are repudiated by you. If you do not reject Mr. Holman's partisan position, which violates the neutral role of the Community Relations Service, the NAACP and the general public must conclude that the anti-integration policy is that of the Nixon administration."

If this has become administration policy, Mr. Wilkins continued, "it will mean that the national policy of integration, the hardwon goal of most Negroes and now established in court decisions, legislation and executive action, has been rejected by this administration if favor if a separate black development."

In such a case, he concluded, "we had better all be informed, so that we can prepare for the confrontation which proponents of an integrated society will have to undertake."

When you're looking for excuses to be angry, to commit acts of violence, to hate and rebel, they're easy to find. As a child, I remember my mother leaving our house early in the morning to work at washing clothes and scrubbing floors. I remember my father accepting any job he could get to help keep our family in clothes, food and shelter. I remember welfare checks when there were no jobs. But I also remember something else. Through all those years of physical nothingness, I never lost respect for my parents. I never referred to them as my "old lady" or my "old man."

I knew they were trying. And I felt that through it all, they retained a pride and dignity that no social structure could destroy. It was my parents who taught me how to be black and proud. It was my parents who constantly reminded me: "You are no better than anyone else—and no one else is better than you!"

Today, the world is full of cynics who sneer at this kind of feeling and sentiment. Being black, I have as much reason as anyone to join them. Being realistic, with standards of my own—I won't! Nobody has proved to me that violence, disrespect, and downgrading decency have done anything to help the social status and dignity of black people.

But don't read me wrong! I am an advocate of Black Power. Black Power through education and reform...not revolt. To me, Black Power must start with black pride and black dignity. Without these two ingredients...you've got black nothing. No bull. Just fact!

White merchants dupe unknowing black buyers

One of the most poignant examples of the white man's unfair usage of the black man is reflected in the treatment afforded black slum dwellers by crooked white merchants.

Throughout the nation, these unscrupulous businessmen swindle the poor through overcharging, misrepresentation or both, according to cases related in a November Reader's Digest article.

The article reveals that in a large number of cases the law actually protects the swindlers.

The shrewd method exercised by the dishonest white merchant includes the "bait-and-switch" technique. This questionable selling practice involves a prospect responding to an appealing television commercial offering a low-priced product - three rooms of wall-to-wall carpeting, say for the "bargain price" of $150 - only to be told that it is "sold out."

The unwary black buyer is subjected to the high-pressure sales approach whereby he is convinced into buying a much more expensive version, usually selling for many times its actual value.

Unknowingly, the gullible white merchant has already arranged for a finance company to handle the sales contract and he informs the black buyer of the arrangement.

The minority purchaser doesn't realize it but unless he registers a complaint within a few days he loses all legal claims to any "guarantee" in the contract.

When the carpet begins to shred in a few weeks, as it almost invariably does, the customer has nowhere to turn. The finance company is not responsible.

The law makes its dramatic entrance - but not to the black buyer's relief. If the customer decides to stop payments, he can be sued for breach of contract.

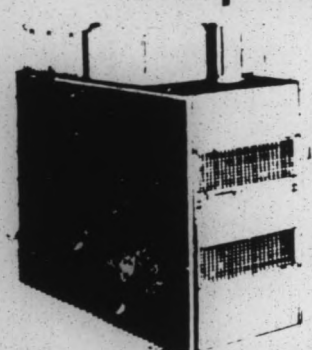

Not only may his wages be garnished, but he can be made to pay out the full price of the contract - plus court costs amounting to many dollars. Under present laws, the

Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest set June 15-17

Dates for the National Finals of the 22nd annual Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest have been set for June 15, 16 and 17 at the famed "500" Speedway in Indianapolis, Glenn E. White, general manager of the Chrysler-Plymouth Division, announced.

This will be the third consecutive year that the national championships of this award-winning youth event have been held in Indianapolis.

The 1969 Trouble Shooting Contest was the most successful we have ever had," White said, "and we expect 1970 to be even better."

A record 206 of the nation's top auto mechanic students, representing 1,925 high schools and colleges in all 50 states, competed in the 1969 National Finals for $125,000 worth of scholarships and prizes.

John H. Moore, Jr., national manager of the contest said he anticipates participation at both the high school and post-high school levels to increase even more this year.

More than 2,000 high schools and colleges are expected to take part in the contest.

Each participating school selects, through intra-class competition, two auto shop students for its trouble-shooting team. Every contest consists of two competitions, a written exam worth 30 percent of a team's final score and a mechanical challenge, which puts the theory into practice, that is worth 70 percent of the overall score.

Cities' League picks Lugar over N.Y. mayor Lindsay

SAN DIEGO, Calif. - The Mayor of New York City, John V. Lindsay was defeated by Richard G. Lugar, Mayor of Indianapolis, Ind. in the contest for the vice-president's post of the National League of Cities here last weekend.

The vice president of the league advances automatically to the office of president next year. Lugar chairman of the league's resolutions committee normally would have advanced automatically to the post of the vice presidency. But the nominating committee bypassed Lindsay for Lugar.

The committee chose Lindsay as a compromise candidate after Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland, a Democrat previously had opposed the nomination of Lugar.

Lugar before the voting observed that a victory for him or defeat "would in effect represent a vote of confidence, or no confidence in the Nixon administration."

New firearms policy for Ind. prisons announced

The commissioner of the Indiana Department of Correction, Robert P. Heyne, last week-end announced that under a new policy gunfire will be used only as a last resort in subduing future prison disturbances.

His announcement might rate a sequel to the disturbance at the State Reformatory, Pendleton, Sept. 26, when one inmate was killed and 46 others injured as guards fired upon them with shotguns when most of the inmates were sitting or lying down.

Wardens and superintendents of state penal institutions have been told that "every effort should be made to use non-lethal methods of restraint" such as water, gas or clubs to control disturbances.

The new policy noted in regards to emergency procedure, "Qualified personnel are authorized to use firearms as a last resort, to prevent escapes, prevent serious injury, or loss of life to personnel, inmates, or activity which might endanger lives."

Mr. Heyne noted that firearms are not authorized in any event at the Women's Prison, Indiana Boy's School, Indiana Girl's School or youth camps.

Regarding to the use of firearms the new order now applies only to the Michigan City prison with about 1,900 inmates and the Pendleton Reformatory housing about 2,300 inmates.

He also stressed in keeping with the new policy adressed to all top-level officials, to begin at once to work with all the departments with all departments that "we treat all offenders as human beings."

"This means that each inmate will be treated according to his needs and abilities, regardless of race, creed or color..."

The Madison grand jury, Anderson probing the incident at the Pendleton Reformatory has heard testimony for seven weeks. This week William F. Lawler, Madison County Prosecutor observed that the investigation, following a delay will get underway again.

Concerning a six-point program of preventive action, to forestall future disturbances in the penal institutions, he observed: "... It is the policy of the department of correction not to yield to demands presented by groups. However, when the situation occurs, the institution head or his representative will provide an opportunity for a representative to be heard."

The Christmas spirit was prevalent in the home of Mrs. Paul A. Batties, 4248 Cold Spring Road, when The Recorder Women Sponsors held their Christmas meeting and made their final reports of funds collected for the 1969 Recorder Christmas Cheer Fund.

This bevy of dynamic women represents a cross-section of the community's most ardent and enthusiastic women who have learned that one of the greatest joys and satisfactions in everyday living comes from helping others, not only at Christmas time but continuously.

Therefore, The Indianapolis Recorder Christmas Cheer Fund provides a satisfying opportunity for members of this organization to enlist the help of public spirited citizens in providing simple gifts to the city's needy families to let these families know that there are those who care.

The honored guest speaker for the meeting the past Saturday was Rev. Landrum Shields, minister of Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church, who gave a very profound and inspirational address on the spiritual significance of Christmas.

His message was warmly received and acknowledged by the many members of the organization of Sponsors who were in attendance at the meeting.

Miss Ollie Terry, popular pianist, favored the group by a medley of Christmas carols which served to enhance the spiritual aura of the meeting.

Mrs. Fred Perdue, chairman of Sponsors, presided over the meeting. Financial reports were received by Mrs. Fredonia Stewart Temple, the staff coordinator.

Mrs. Batties, the director of The Recorder Women Sponsors, acknowledged the splendid work of the members of the organization and praised them and thanked them in behalf of the Cheer Fund for the excellence of their performance and for their outstanding service to the community.

Mrs. Batties began her service to The Indianapolis Recorder Charities, December, 1951, when The Sponsors, upon the invitation of the coordinator, Mrs. Temple, were officially organized.

She and members of the organization have given consistent volunteer service to The Recorder Charities and to the community from that time to the present and graciously acknowledge their sincere appreciation to the community for its loyal and generous response each year when an appeal is made for contributions to help hundreds of deprived families within the city.

The Sponsors extend to everyone the season's greetings and best wishes for "A Merry Christmas."

be obtained for lunch, bus fare, or other temporary needs for assistance. The students who are financially able to repay the money will be considered as a gift, and the fund will remain available as long as it exists whenever there is a legitimate emergency problem.

The overall purpose of the student aid fund is to make sure no student enters and leaves Crispus Attucks High School hungry and to make certain that no student will be without money for bus fare home.

The main function of the Parent-Teacher - Student Association is to aid the school in whatever capacity that will be helpful to the school and the student.

To this end, the Deca-Links Club contributed $100 to the student aid fund thereby enabling the PTSA to meet its proposed budget of $150 for the year 1969-70.

This civic endeavor finalizes the Deca-Links Club's project for the 1969 calendar year. New avenues will be considered at their first meeting in January of 1970.

The inventory showed that Kennedy's various checking accounts contained almost $114,000; that he held now-related stocks, and that he had loaned a sizeable sum to his sister Patricia and her then husband actor Peter Lawford. Jalliet said his office would not make public the amount of inheritance that paid on the estate.

used in the raid. A small "army" of 300 officers ringed the building they sought to pry the armed blacks from the building. The raid was one of three on locations of the party. Police said they had information that machine guns and other weapons had been stored there and they wanted to serve warrants on two persons. At one point officers issued an ultimatum by bullhorn to those in the headquarters: "Come out with your hands up or we'll come in." One man came out. Finally the others followed. The 13 were indicted, through the militant efforts of Prosecutor Noble R. Percy, by the Marion County Grand Jury. Commenting on the number of times the 13 were charged, the five lawyers stated: "We as lawyers claim this is harassment and defy Prosecutor Percy to show us any case where procedure such as this has been used." Evidence clearly points out that all the 13 black demonstrators were sitting on the steps of Shortridge High School. Court record also show that some were merely repeating: "Say It Loud, I'm black and I'm proud." Lyrics from the hit tune of singer James Brown.

ilar meetings with commanders could not be held regularly. Some black servicemen thought they were being held back from promotion by discrimination, and complained of a "lack of communications between the top levels of command and the lowly troop level," Bennett said. The investigation team, Bennett said, had studied five or six racial incidents "of impropriety" in Vietnam, plus a dozen "incipient racial involvements."

"They ranged from fist fights between two soldiers which had their genesis in racial slurs or epithets to a disturbance involving between 50 and 75 men," he said. He said the disturbance occurred in September at Cam Ranh Bay, a logistical base about 185 northeast of Saigon which was on of the installations on the group's inner-ary. In the incident, Bennett said, black soldiers had protested the confinement of two soldiers who they claimed were mistakenly identified and arrested for assaulting a white GI.

The U.S. command has said nothing publicly about the incident, and a headquarters spokesman said he had no information to release. During his visit to Cam Ranh Bay, Bennett said, he found that some Negroes "who are part of the black revolution have been making demands for segregated barracks and meeting places for black servicemen."

are going to look to the classroom to give meaning to their lives, rather than to turn to violence." Although there is a great need for teachers committed to better human relations, according to Shepard, he said most teachers do not bring this kind of attitude into the classroom. "We are pleading for this kind of teacher," he said. Teachers in Shepard's inner city district have been instructed to visit the homes of its 16,000 students to establish good relations with the parents.

simple misdemeanor was sharply rebuffed by attorneys representing those involved. The lawyers, George Sawyer and Earl Paslmer, both of legal of Legal Services Organization (LSO) and Patrick Chavis, John Moss, and John Ward, noted that the group has been charged with disorderly conduct three different times - the latter time going to trial.

The 13 were indicted, through the militant efforts of Prosecutor Noble R. Percy, by the Marion County Grand Jury. Commenting on the number of times the 13 were charged, the five lawyers stated: "We as lawyers claim this is harassment and defy Prosecutor Percy to show us any case where procedure such as this has been used." Evidence clearly points out that all the 13 black demonstrators were sitting on the steps of Shortridge High School. Court record also show that some were merely repeating: "Say It Loud, I'm black and I'm proud." Lyrics from the hit tune of singer James Brown.

ilar meetings with commanders could not be held regularly. Some black servicemen thought they were being held back from promotion by discrimination, and complained of a "lack of communications between the top levels of command and the lowly troop level," Bennett said. The investigation team, Bennett said, had studied five or six racial incidents "of impropriety" in Vietnam, plus a dozen "incipient racial involvements."

"They ranged from fist fights between two soldiers which had their genesis in racial slurs or epithets to a disturbance involving between 50 and 75 men," he said. He said the disturbance occurred in September at Cam Ranh Bay, a logistical base about 185 northeast of Saigon which was on of the installations on the group's inner-ary. In the incident, Bennett said, black soldiers had protested the confinement of two soldiers who they claimed were mistakenly identified and arrested for assaulting a white GI.

The U.S. command has said nothing publicly about the incident, and a headquarters spokesman said he had no information to release. During his visit to Cam Ranh Bay, Bennett said, he found that some Negroes "who are part of the black revolution have been making demands for segregated barracks and meeting places for black servicemen."

But he said that "through integration" was being preserved at all the base's facilities.

Although there is a great need for teachers committed to better human relations, according to Shepard, he said most teachers do not bring this kind of attitude into the classroom. from the city of Indianapolis. Patrolman Battle also received $50 gift certificates from L.S. Ayres and Company and L. Strauss and Company. Budget-Rent-A-Car gave him an automobile for a week.

The awards were made Wednesday, Dec. 3, in a ceremony in the office of Mayor Richard G. Lugar. Deputy Mayor John Walls made the presentation, assisted by Chief Churchill.

Patrolman Battle was selected for the recognition by Chief Churchill, the deputy chiefs, and the board of captains. Patrolman Battle was radioed to the twenty-second hundred block of Riverside Drive on Oct. 26 and upon arrival found there had been an accident involving four vehicles.

After investigating he discovered that one of the cars was on fire, whereupon he went to the car and removed one passenger. After laying the man down, he started back to the car to remove the other victims but was knocked off his feet by an explosion. The soles of his shoes were burned off and he suffered minor burns.

Previous to aiding those in the car, he had halted the driver who was fleeing in flames down the highway. He wrapped the driver in a blanket to smother the flames. Altogether there were eight persons in the flaming car.

Patrolman Battle proceeded to free passengers in the other three cars with the assistance of Deputy Chief Raymond Stratton. One driver was trapped in a car that was wrapped around a tree.

The quick-thinking action of Patrolman Battle occurred when ambulance attendants and others on the scene became nauseated and could not remove the severely burned bodies from the car. His ability to handle the situation so efficiently was attributed to the fact that he was once a medical technician at General Hospital. Patrolman Battle's service was signaled as "beyond the call of duty."

His interest in the accident was further shown by the comprehensive reports he prepared for the Grand Jury following a complete investigation, the witnessing of an autopsy, and detailed drawings of each victim. The four-car accident was the worst in 40 years in Indiana. Patrolman Battle acted with no regard for his own safety.

Among oral accolades bestowed on Patrolman Battle were "a credit to the department," "high regard for human life," "outstanding devotion to duty" and "upholding the aims and traditions of the department."

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, Patrolman Battle has lived here eight years. A family man, he has a wife, Mary Delores Battle, and four children, Juan, 11; Belinda, 9; Donnie, 7, and Keith, 4. The family belongs to Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church. Patrolman Battle is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Detroit News Saturday that she and her husband, Monroe, were both fired by Evers after he learned of their plans to marry.

"I didn't fire her," said Evers, the first black mayor of a major Mississippi community since Reconstruction. "I gave her an alternative. . . for her own safety and the safety of our town and the respect of our town."

Although he denied firing the couple, Evers said, "But I know our first job is to make this government work. . . we are going to make it work and I can't help who the hatchet chops off. If you get in our way, we are going to chop you down, white or black."

Mrs. Jenkins told the Detroit paper Evers said Fayette wasn't ready for a mixed marriage "and he would have to live with it."

"I feel personally that Fayette is not the place and this is certainly not the time for us to go out here and promote mixed marriages," said Evers after learning of Mrs. Jenkins' charges.

Evers said he "begged" the couple not to marry. "Their last words were, 'We are going to get married and live in Fayette,' and my answer was you won't live here as city attorney and city policeman."

Jenkins, 28, joined the Fayette police force last July after working in Milwaukee. Mrs. Jenkins, a native of Lansing, Mich., was an unpaid member of Evers' staff. The said they are now seeking employment in Michigan.

to have been killed during a Panther-police shootout Thursday, December 4.

According to the newspaper, the "private autopsy" was conducted at the funeral home owned by Alderman A.A. (Sammy) Rayner where the body lay in state until burial Tuesday, December 8. It is said to have been conducted by three white doctors. Andrews said that "a bullet hole was found just below Fred Hampton's hairline above his right eye. An examination of the angle of the wound showed that if Hampton was lying on his back, the person who shot him would have been standing above him slightly to the right and behind his head."

"Another bullet hole was below the right ear with exit hole in the left side of the lower neck showing exactly the same angle as the other bullet hole. There were two other bullet grazes, one of the front left shoulder, again at the angle, and one on the right arm."

raided apartment were injured two seriously, and two of the 12 policemen who took part in the raid were also injured, one by gunfire.

State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, displaying nine shotguns, seven pistols, two carbines and several hundred rounds of ammunition allegedly taken from the apartment in the pre-dawn raid, commended "the police officers for their bravery, their remarkable restraint and their discipline in the face of this vicious Black Panther attack as we expect every decent citizen of our community to do likewise."

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket, said he had received conflicting reports of just how Hampton was killed and asked for a complete investigation. He said he was "personally grieved" over Hampton's death "because he was a personal friend of mine."

Hampton was found in a bedroom with a loaded 45-caliber pistol in his hand and a shotgun by his side, police said. His head was soaked with blood. His bed was soaked with blood.

Bobby Rush, the deputy minister of defense for the Illinois Panthers, said the pool of blood on Hampton's bed indicated "He was shot while still in bed and had no chance to return the fire."

Rush charged the raid was a "Search-and-destroy mission" by the Chicago police. In San Francisco, attorney Garry said he planned to go before the United Nations to charge the United States with "genocide" of the militant Panther organization.

Garry said the Chicago shootout was an example of the extermination policy aimed at the party.

The injured persons, including a woman said to be eight months pregnant, were held under guard at Cook County Hospital. Three uninjured persons from the apartment were charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery and held on $25,000 bail.

U.S. District Court Judge James B. Parsons, a Negro, said the incident was "frightening, but I'm afraid it will happen again."

He said of the Panthers, "My heart goes out to them, but they're doing us no good and are bringing about a total separation of the races." Sgt. Daniel Groth, who led the raiding party, armed with a search warrant, said he first knocked on the door and after waiting for it to be opened, forced his way inside and the gunfire began.

Groth said he twice ordered his men to cease firing and asked the Panthers to surrender. Both times a male voice from one of the tree bedrooms shouted, "Shoot it out," Groth said.

ble-barrelled shotgun-- believed to have been the murder weapon.

"The oldest girl of Det. Sgt. Mike Popcheff of the police homicide and robbery division that her parents had argued because the elder James had brought the shotgun home. According to the girl, her mother had picked James up when he was released from jail around 3:30 p.m. She said her father left the house shortly after they arrived home."

He came back several hours later with the shotgun and he and his wife became engaged in a heated argument because of the gun, the distraught girl sobbed.

James left the house with the shotgun but later re-entered the family's modest frame dwelling armed with the weapon and walked into a front bedroom where his wife was sleeping with the two younger girls.

James started cursing loudly and fired a blast that struck the victim in the chest just as she started to get out of the bed, police were told.

Hearing the shot, the younger James, who had been in a room at the rear of the house, ran up the hall to investigate. Spotting his father with the shotgun, he turned and ran and was attempting to escape through a rear door when the elder James fired again. The force of the blast, which struck the youth in the back, knocked him into the backyard.

Mrs. James was pronounced dead on arrival at Marion County General Hospital.

James has a history of mental disorders, police learned, and has been a patient at the psychiatric at General Hospital.

During the argument that preceded the shooting, the children told investigators, Mrs. James had told her husband that she did not want a gun in the house.

Police said James brought the shotgun, sold it and bought it back several times in recent months.

The James children are staying with an aunt, Mrs. Annie Williams at 928 Belmont.

In an earlier homicide, police Saturday night arrested a 22-year-old and charged her with shooting her common-law husband in the home the couple shared at 2916 Stuart.

Police, called to the Stuart address found James Johnson, 23, lying on the floor in the residence. He had been shot once in the left side of his chest with a .22-caliber revolver.

Ernestine Polk told homicide detectives that Johnson had been shot accidentally as they struggled over the gun.

According to detectives, Mrs. Polk said she and Johnson had argued because she wanted to go visiting and he ordered her not to leave the house.

The woman said she put on her coat and started to leave the house anyway and that the victim attempted to stop her.

"As they struggled, the woman was quoted as saying, 'Johnson felt the gun which was in her coat pocket and reached in and pulled it out.' She said she grabbed his hand and as they wrestled over the pistol it accidentally discharged--the slug striking Johnson in the chest. Johnson died at General Hospital about three hours after the shooting.

Mrs. Polk was originally charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. But when she appeared in Municipal Court Room 10 Monday the assault charge was nulled and a murder charge was lodged against her.

The case was continued until Jan. 16.

Social ills styled task of big business

NEW YORK.--Maurice H. Stans, U.S. Secretary of Commerce and former banker last week urged members of the National Association of Manufacturers conference to get involved in solving major problems of the nation.

Secretary Stans urged business leaders to bring their skills and resources into play to meet "the great social needs of our times."

He cited several areas in which the nation's business leaders should get involved, among these the National Alliance of Businessmen's program to provide jobs for the under-employed and the unemployed.

He noted the voluntary action programs initiated by Secretary of Housing, and Urban Development, George Romney, as a way to "join in voluntary assault on poverty and underprivilege."

Also he mentioned the U.S. Commerce Department's Office of Minority Business Enterprise as stimulating private and public efforts to involve business-American free enterprise system.

He proposed that the Minority Enterprise Small Business Investment Company (MESBIC) program offers "a simple, direct, manageable, measurable procedure at small investment in time and money, for the private businessman to play a productive role."

Mr. Stans told his audience; the "time for corporate citizenship has arrived."

Here he urged NAM members to; use corporate skills to stop water and air pollution.

South learning to live with desegregation, survey shows

NEW ALBANY, Miss -- A white teenager at W.P. Daniel High School was asked for his impression of life in an integrated school in a society that largely despised the arrangement.

With a fading smile he answered, "I guess one thing I learned is that they're not as dumb as lots of us figured."

A black girl hesitated when asked for her feelings toward her new white classmates. She nervously answered, "They're not as mean as lots of us thought."

Slowly, class by class, the white and black children of New Albany, Mississippi, and other parts of the South are changing some basic attitudes that had been born in racial separatism and shaped by generations of tradition.

Some desegregated districts are still locked in discord, and there sometimes are racial clashes. Despite this unrest, a visit to a half-dozen school districts in the Deep South suggests a prevailing sense of relief in most quarters that the world is still intact after desegregation, according to reports from that area.

Paul Rilling, director of the Atlanta civil rights office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, made the following statement to newsmen:

"There has been trouble in individual schools, but on the average I'd say that many Southerners are learning to their great pleasure that desegregation can work smoothly and without discord under the right kind of leadership."

From the days of the past when the watchword was "Never," from Mississippi to the hills and hollows of the Piedmont range in the Carolinas, more and more Southerners are now saying: "It's not as bad as we expected."

About 3,000 of the 4,000 school districts in the South and border states have been legally desegregated. Of the remaining districts, about 390 are under federal court order to desegregate and they are in some stage of the process.

ANDERSON, -- The winner in the "Tiny Tot" fund raising contest at Bethesda Baptist Church was recently announced on a musical program. Sponsors of the contest include Mrs. Isaac Lloyd, Mrs. Eart Marsh and Miss Mary Johnson daughter of the pastor, the Rev. Henry Johnson.

Parents of the young children participating in the contest were among the sponsors of the contest. A small prize was presented the parent returning the largest amount of donations.

The fund raising drive seeks to raise $5,000 for a down payment on a larger church building. Each member of the congregation is pledged to raise $150. The present church home is located at 15th and Hendrick St.

The city board of public works voted several improvements at the last meeting. Donald Peck, local attorney, representing Allen Chapel Terrace Estates, Inc. discussed the low-to-moderate housing project proposed for the Jackson Park neighborhood. He said the project needed a commitment from the city on the project to get final approval from the Federal Housing Administration.

The local organization is working against a deadline since the option will soon expire. Chairman Robert S. Hodson observed that the city will install underground electric lines, improve Martindale Ave. and install water, sewer lines and fire hydrants near the project area. Other requests were denied. Board members James Steele and Paul Newborn concurred with Mr. Hodson against a reversal of past policies of the board.

The director of the South Bend Housing Authority, Jesse Dickinson, speaking here at the recent Human Relations Banquet, held in the UAW Local 662 Hall, stated that. Results and behaviour, not opportunities and intentions are the keys in alleviating the sickness of racism that will eventually strangle the American way of life.

The former state senator defined white racism as "any institution or policy which works to the advantage of whites and the disadvantage of blacks consciously or unconsciously."

Mr. Dickerson's comment reflected sentiment expressed earlier by UAW's Roy Cantrell who warned participants in the Human Relations series program not to feel complacent or that "... we understand our brother's problems as a result of these sessions."

Roosevelt Carter, local electrician has been named as assistant city electrical inspector, Robert Hodson chairman of the board of works has announced Carter will serve under Ralph Moore chief electrical inspector assuming his duties following the announcement.

Muslims buying land tracts in southern parts

SASSER, Ga., -- Using a public-relations campaign to allay fears of some Alabama whites, Black Muslims are busy buying large tracts of land in the south for farm operations, paying cash.

Walter L. Turner Of Chicago, public-relations director for the Nation of Islam, the black religious sect headed by Elijah Muhammad, said the group will ship all over the world.

The farms will be used to produce beef, dairy products, and vegetables, provide jobs for the black people and lower prices on goods shipped to Muslim stores in big cities. Mr. Turner said the sect owns nearly 2,000 acres in Georgia, 1,000 in Alabama and "we're working on a deal in Texas, we're looking at 2,000 acres in Mississippi and in Florida."

He acknowledged that the Muslim are having problems in Alabama, but predicted: "We will own 100,000 acres in Alabama next year at this time."

Evansville, Ind. By CLEONA SCOTT

EVANSVILLE -- A recent organizational shift in the police department which took Negro officers off patrol duty was criticized last week at a meeting by the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Chapter President Clark Johnson called a special meeting of the group's executive board Dec. 14 to consider what action should be taken in the matter.

Johnson said under the chief new chart, there are no colored patrolmen on the streets and no detectives. "The attack is going to have to be made by the NAACP," Johnson said.

Bobby Gold suggested the CAPE be asked to share in the cost of utilities on the building they now occupy. Johnson also said that the building was serving a purpose for the community and is needed.

The Tigers of Crispus Attucks High School who dominated the state high school basketball polls in the 1950's and early 60's, are high in the polls once again.

In its first poll of the season, the Associated Press ranked the Tigers third in the state behind East Chicago Roosevelt and Seymour.

Undeclared in regular season play last year, the Tigers won 22 games and lost only two and were ranked fourth in the polls.

The complete poll was as follows: 1. East Chicago Roosevelt (4-0), 2. Seymour (4-0), 3. Crispus Attucks (3-0), 4. Gary Roosevelt (4-0), 5. Marion (5-0), 6. Michigan City (2-0), 7. Evansville North (2-0), 8. Evansville Memorial (2-0), 9. South Bend Central (4-0), 10. Muncie Central (3-0).

Marion County power Southport was ranked 11th, Shortridge 13th, and Howe 24th. Defending state champion Indianapolis Washington with their 1-3 record received no votes.

Martin wants either Ellis, Frazier next

LAS VEGAS—"I'll take either one, any time or any place," said 29-year-old Leo Martin after a surprising ninth-round knockout of Sonny Liston here Saturday.

He was referring to Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis, both of whom share a piece of the world heavy weight title.

The World Boxing Association recognizes Ellis, who beat Martin in the WBA heavyweight elimination series Aug. 5, 1967. Frazier is recognized in five states.

Martin himself is recognized in five states. Martin himself is recognized by the North American Boxing Association, which covers nine states and Mexico. His knockout win came at 1:48 of the ninth round of the scheduled 12-round.

Martin, 199, caught the 37-year-old Liston and former world's title holder, with a right cross to the face, hit him with a left hook, then dropped him with another right. Liston, 219 1/2 and favored by 13-5 to win his 16th fight in a row, went down flat on his face and Referee Mike Kaplan counted him out.

It was the fourth loss in Liston's 17-year pro career and the first since he failed

Louie Ferrell bowled a 591 in the Westside Mix Foursome League last week, and Florence Moore rolled a 559 series and tied third place with Bea Robinson. Nice rolling, girls! Helen Webb had 514 and Bea Robinson 507.

In the Circle City League, Joella Mitchell led the women with a 581, Frances Ridley 563, Lillie Linthecome 522, Mae Haskins 516, Bea Robinson 518, Sharon Ballard 501, her first year in league play and her first 500. She also rolled her scores against my team with a high game of 206, with only a 134 average.

Martha Benson had 500. Jerome Baker was the only 600 man this week with a 638 and a high game of 246. Don Harden, who bowls in the Howard Sams League at Town and Country, rolled a 728 last week on games of 225-290-213. Also in the Pepsi Cola League, he bowled a 663 at Town and Country.

Slaughter of Panthers worth investigating

Early this year, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover evaluated the ultra-militant Black Panther Party as one of the most dangerous subversive forces ever to menace American society. Evidently inspired by this questionable assertion, law enforcement officials throughout the nation have embarked upon a campaign smacking strongly of an "Open Season on Panthers"—for since then at least 28 suspected members have been gunned down by badge-bearers, often under controversial circumstances.

In Los Angeles, Chicago, Washington, New York and other reputed militant strongholds the brothers' blood has flowed and always to cries of "Get the anarchists," "Rub out the Commies," and "They deserved it" from certain misinformed, easily swayed and outright biased factions. The stench is beginning to rouse black ire and concern.

"Modern day lynchings" the NAACP has implied in demanding that U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell intervene and CORE Director Roy Innis has duplicated the demand. It was the Thursday, December 4 slaying of two party officials in Chicago that really raised eyebrows.

Police claim the pair died in the all-too-typically called police-Panther shootout but some black leaders have produced evidence indicating the young men were pounced upon and slaughtered as they slept. A similar incident Monday near Watts has fanned the flames.

The worn out explanation of officers being met by gunfire when they arrived to investigate alleged illegal weapon possession got another smelly airing. Despite the "huge cache" of ammunition usually surrounding the bodies, in such cases, police sustain few casualties, even at close range, while the Panthers are virtually slaughtered.

While we cannot condone flagrant violation of just laws, it is ironic to note the gun control law—enacted in an emotional air following Robert Kennedy's death—has resulted in a sort of "black genocide" and the trouble-plagued Panthers are bearing the full brunt. The Klan, the Birch Society, the Minutemen and other right wing organizations never encountered such open uniformed hostility and bloodbaths in all their years of existence. Is racism the welding force?

With all due respect to moral obligations, we can only join CORE and the NAACP in their probe requests. Like them or not, Panther members are humans and U.S. citizens deserving of the rights and "innocent until proven guilty" benefits accorded others thought to be breaking the law. Restraint on both sides is definitely in order for the sake of preventing bloodshed.

Shoplifting and the black community

Recent statistics compiled by retail merchants and police officials indicate that a great percentage of these crimes are committed by juveniles and narcotics addicts. The statistics do not show the ethnic background of those shoplifters but persons who know tell us that far too many of the culprits are black.

A lack of respect for the property of others and the long-range problems a criminal record can bring are just a few of the negative results of this type of criminal activity can bring.

We have not progressed so far that we can afford to have children stealing and disobeying laws to the extent they begin a long march in crime that makes crime statistics weigh heavily against the black community.

As usual, the problem is that parents have failed to teach their children respect for property. We recognize that the climate of insurrection in the black community may have also made a contribution in this direction that many of our youth fail to understand completely.

Black people cannot afford to have their children with criminal records because our society is still not ready to understand the basic problems of ghetto people and the reasons they violate the law.

Therefore it is incumbent upon parents to begin teaching their children that some of the basic operations of our society insists on a certain amount of conformity. Those who don't conform are then victimized by the repressive system in one of the many methods available.

Many young people will find that their careers can be seriously hampered by a criminal record, even a juvenile record. They will find that jobs are not available, that certain careers are restrictive and that a possible incarceration can do untold damage to the mind and spirit.

This newspaper hopes that all parents will learn as much about shoplifting as they learn about drugs and work to discourage any possible violations on the part of their children.

Remember!

"Crime has its heroes. ERROR HAS ITS MARTYRS: Of true zeal and false, what VAIN JUDGES WE ARE!

MITCHELLISM!

To Be Equal

by WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.

The subsidized society

Side by side on the front page of a major daily were two stories. One told of the bankruptcy of the public housing authorities in a dozen cities; the other announced a new Administration plan to give several hundred million dollars to private companies to build ships.

These stories symbolize weird priorities on spending tax dollars. Public needs keeps taking a back seat to private profit.

For all the speechmaking and talk about how costly welfare and public subsidies to the poor are, the blunt truth of the matter is that industries and the well-off get four times as much federal aid as do the poor.

Some of this aid is in outright dollar gifts, some of it in the form of tax concessions. But whatever name it goes by, it amounts to a federal welfare program for the well-off.

Farmers, for example, get subsidies not to grow some crops. The prime beneficiaries are large farm corporations who own vast tracts of land. Many of these get more than $1 billion each to keep their land cropless each year. The total bill; come to about $4 billion a year.

Stock market speculators also are subsidized in what they don't have to pay tax on the interest they pay for borrowing money with which to play the market.

Private companies have a range of subsidized activity, from tax relief on investments in new machinery to rent-free use of government-owned factories.

The average American homeowner is also subsidized. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney, recently talked about the "housing subsidy" that lets people take tax writeoffs for interest paid on home mortgage and housing loans guaranteed by the government.

"The people who benefit usually are not aware that they are being helped," he said. They are also usually among the people who scream so loudly about federal "handouts" to the poor while getting handouts themselves.

Public tax policy and road-building led to the creation of the very subsidized suburbs that, through overt discrimination and zoning laws, exclude Negroes and other minorities. And this policy of subsidizing the well-off and the middle classes is particularly behind the shortage of public housing today.

In 1968, for example, the government spent a mere $300 million on public housing, but the revenue loss from letting private homeowners write off property taxes and mortgage interest from their federal tax came to close to $4 billions.

Even welfare itself can be seen as a subsidy to business and not to the poor. By providing a minimum subsistence level relief recipients, local governments provide a pool of cheap labor for seasonal industries.

Hundred of thousands of low-wage and seasonal workers move from jobs to welfare and back again to other low-wage jobs. Business men agitating for a law to allow welfare only to residents who had lived in their city for more than a year, changed their minds when it was pointed out to them that the city's hotel, restaurant, and laundry industries would be crippled by lack of manpower.

This is a subsidized society. By and large, in spite of obvious inequities, federal subsidies of one sort or another spur greater economic activity. And some, like the GI bill veterans benefits, help many people to economic security.

It is now time to help millions more out of poverty by a more rational use of subsidies. And it is time for the great majority of Americans who have benefited from subsidies to count their blessings and extend the same privilege to those who have been less favored.

NEWSPAPERS PREFERRED

Consumers studied do not find as high a proportion of annoying ads in newspapers and magazines as in radio and television. But broadcast ads, especially television, seem to command a great deal more attention than do ads in print media.

It was also found that personal experience with products and brands sharply affects a consumer's reactions to advertisements. For example, only 7 percent of the ads for "my favorite brand" were considered annoying or offensive compared with 76 percent of ads for brands "I wouldn't buy."

Voice From The Gallery

by ANDREW W. RAMSEY

And then there's the silent black majority

Messrs. Nixon and Agnew have bleeding hearts nowadays ever what they call the silent majority. By this euphonious term, the present occupant of the White House and his chief errand boy mean the white in most Southern states and provincial states like Indiana.

They are the lower middle class whites who voted largely for George Wallace and who openly oppose things like school integration.

These silent Americans are not the only silent group in our population. It so happens that the vast majority of the black or Negro minority is also very silent. But unfortunately, the black majority is divided. There are the inarticulate blacks who do not communicate with any group in America life.

This group is the majority of the Negro middleclass who have done relatively well in a society that is basically racist.

The latter group has followed the white middleclass in the flight to the suburbs or to pusher surroundingx than are available to the commonality of Negroes by they may have noticed that when they fled the ghettos in the inner city to go to the swank pads, ghetto insisted on following them. It might not have occurred to them that they are just as unwelcome as neighbors to the white suburbanites as are their sepi brothers in the slums. They have been unable to integrate the housing of America because white America will not let them do so.

They do not cry out when the country clubs and other social clubs to which middle-class whites belong bar their doors to them. Many of them work daily with whites but at quitting time they retire to separate worlds.

Most of them in their private homes and their social clubs speak disparagingly of the Black Panthers, the Black Muslims and the black leaders who preach separatism. But the also fail to belong to groups like the NAACP, SCLC and the National Urban League and the National Urban League.

Most of them could care less about the treatment of Negroes by the police or by the guards and wardens in penal institutions and they would refuse to sign a petition which sought to lessen the effects of racism on the Negro prisoners in the state penal institutions.

In general they are not the Negroes who made a fight for the integration of the public schools and other public institutions but they are often the only Negroes to reap the benefits of such fights. Nor are most of them concerned about the war in Vietnam nor the absence of Negro astronauts.

These Negroes who have it made are accustomed to looking upon Negroes who have not escaped the slums and the bottom rungs of the economic ladder as "they" and to be just a critical of them as are the white counterparts. In fact many of them are actually white racists in black skins.

There are Negro teachers who regard economically disadvantaged Negro children with visible contempt and use the same disparaging terms in speaking of them that racist white teacher use.

And there are Negro preachers who never bring up the subject of racial discrimination in their sermons, preferring to confine their talks to the Jews of ancient Palestine. In a sense they are not silent but they never say anything relevant to the living hell in which most American Negroes live.

Then there are Negro physicians, dentists and lawyers, practically all of whose patients or clients are Negroes, who have little if any empathy for the blacks off of whom they gain their livelihoods.

The Negroes who are active in the traditional types of civil rights organizations are less concerned about the black power advocates and the black separatists than they are about those Negroes who refuse to speak out against the inequities of our society.

The Negro integrationists realize that the Negro separatists are at least letting America know that all is not well along racial lines and that they object, while the silent Negroes seem to be giving it assent to the machinations of a racist society.

Sunday School Lesson

by REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, SR.

Time will tell his story scripture; psalm 119:1-8 Luke 2:1-3. BACKGROUND SCRIPTURE: Psalm 1; 119: 1-16; Daniel 2:31-45; Luke 1:57-2:3. BIBLE TRUTH: Despite the gap in the sacred record, there is evidence that the Jews lived with increasing emphasis on the law so that the on going purpose of God was kept alive during the years between the two Testaments. BIBLE VERSE: Psalm 119-11. LESSON AIM: That students be prepared for a better understanding of the New Testament through study of the period for which there is no Biblical record.

For nearly 400 years no prophets heard, no great kings with timely dynasties - just a hopeful searching of God's Word to find which step to take. This characterized the Jewish forward steps between the testaments.

So we divide our study here as follows: I. Daniel Sees A-Heard (Daniel 2:31-45). II. Praise of God's Law (Psalm 119:1-8). III. The World of the Incarnation (Luke 2:1-3). DANIEL SEES AHEAD. Just a feeler from one place to another was the guiding word of the sacred writ of old in these times. One can somewhat guess what 400 years meant then as he surveys what 400 years mean as of now were we to turn the clock back now we would reach as far as the days of Martin Luther's Revolution.

So it was with those between the Testament. The Jew's first slavemasters were the Babylonians and Jeremiah said that the Jew fell in Babylon's grips because of sin. Jeremiah so told them in his prophecy.

Daniel in this scripture sees in this Daniel: Vision Five Great Kingdoms. (1) The Nebuchadnezzar's Judgins by Babylon; (2) The Medo Persian Kingdom; (3) The Roman Empire from 63 B.C.-96 A.D. (4) The Greek Kingdom Under Alexander the Great; (5) The temple built by Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah was destroyed during the Two Persian wars 306 B.C. New ways of worship had to be devised for the scattered Jew. This new way was the synagogue. In it and then scribes translated the Hebrew Law of Moses (Genesis to Deuteronomy) into the language of their lands that they may perpetuate the religion of their people; (6) By the arrival of the Roman the Jews were set free under Caesar Augustus 63 B.C. and given some home rule in Palestine. Herod Augustus was made governor.

PRaise OF GOD'S LAW. This portion of scripture assisted tells who and why men are blessed by the law of God. (a) They are blessed with God's presence (Jer. 7:23); (b) They are blessed with God's guidance (Prov. 3:6);

(c) They are blessed with God's provision in all life's circumstances (Ps. 31:19); (d) They are blessed with a hope of a place to spend with God (I John 2:17).

So read and reverence His Word and "Keep thy heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life (Prov. 4:23). So he here praise God's law as a lamp to the traveler (Matt. 23:1-33; Mark 12:38-40).

THE WORLD OF THE INCARNATION. Luke was a historian who sought to identify the events in God's redemptive history. Here Luke begins the story in such a way that we learn that it took place in the days of Caesar Augustus, and we also are reminded of the wide extent of his empire. A decree emanating from Rome had its effect upon the lives of the people of Palestine.

Caesar's decree was not for a tax in itself, but a census that could be used as a basis for taxing. The requirement at this point was solely that everyone should be enrolled.

Here we are reminded of the changes which had taken place in the history of God's people since the close of the Old Testament. Persia had disappeared. Rome was the master.

Events of secular history had made their mark on the people of God. God said He allowed the Chaldeans to take the Israelites into captivity as punishment for their sins (Jer. 22:25). Then He allowed control to pass into the hands of the Greeks, a time of self-rule and finally control of the Romans.

We have no definite statement by God as to why He allowed the latter actions to occur. But that peace which the Roman Empire brought to the Mediterranean world and travel made easier by roads they built served God's purpose.

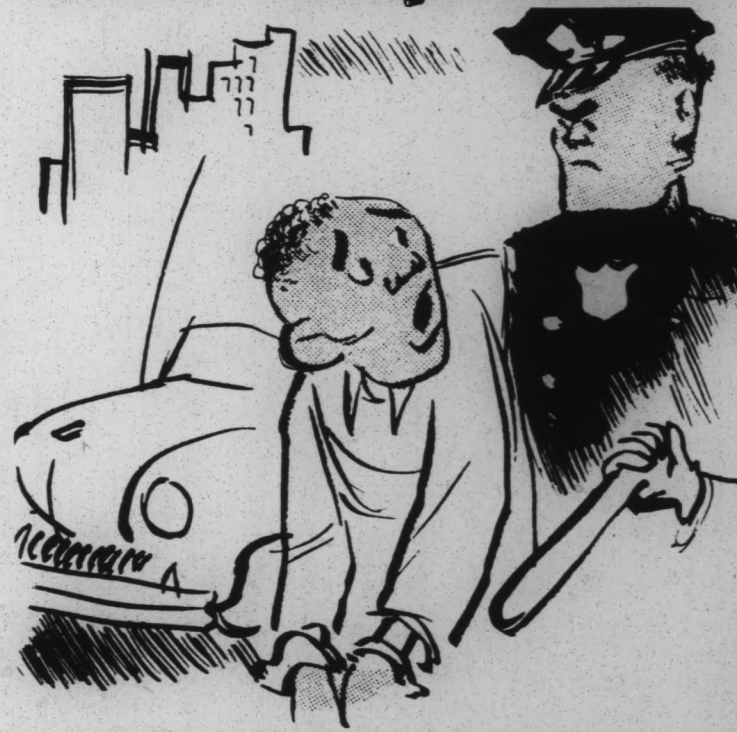

These conditions made the spread of the Gospel possible to a greater degree in a much shorter time and in a much easier fashion than would have been true if the world had been filled with warring empires.

Here is another example of the way Luke linked events surrounding the birth and life of Christ with Roman officials of the era. Reference to Cyrenius (also called Quirinius) has been a problem because records placed his governorship later than the time of Jesus birth, but archaeological finds indicate he may have served twice as governor of Syria, once at the time when Jesus was born.

So our lesson calls us back to praise the king, as in this song:

Come Thou Almighty King,
Help us Thy name to sing
Help us to praise,
Father all glorious,
O'er all victorious,
Come and reign over us
Ancient of days!
Come Thou incarnate Word,
Gird on Thy mighty sword;
Our prayer attend;
Come and Thy people bless,
And give Thy word success,
Spirit of holiness!
On us descend.

THE AVENUE

UNBELIEVABLE -- Letters are pouring in from indigent persons, and they are downright in NEED OF HELP from you people out there who are enjoying good wages, fine homes and beautiful families...One way you can help these unfortunate families at this season of the year, is by ATTENDING the GALA CHRISTMAS SHOW or DONATING direct to THE RECORDER office of to Recorder sponsors...a group of fine ladies giving of their time to help more than 500 NEEDY families at this season of the year.

SOME OF OUR biggest MUSICIANS have become too affluent (?) to stop and realize the plight of these people. They have forgotten from whence they came...they think it's always been roses for them...forgetting their past. They should get help--because they are just ONE-STEP in front of their poor brother... (and you betta believe it.) DIJA kno that Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, head of (NEGRO) National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization paid out $11,000,000 in wages through various industries controlled by his organization, is in jail serving a 6 month sentence...And according to Ralph de Toledano's column in our daily newspaper, "He never assaulted a policeman. He never threw verbal filth at his country. He never looted a ghetto store. (Note: It wasn't of interest to TV)

"A few years ago, Dr. Matthew was making $100,000 a year as a neurosurgeon. He had his own hospital. He gave it up to try to bring psychological and economic independence to his people. He didn't pass the cup among the multi-million-dollar fundations.

"Dr. Matthew is in prison for what is technically a misdemeanor, and he will remain there for six months.

(We are only printing excerpts...sorry we can't reproduce the whole # column in toto.) Now what was Dr. Matthew's "crime"? In the early days of his project he poured his personal earnings, including income taxes not yet paid, into the work. He feanly stated that this was extra-legal, adding that holding back his taxes not only provided funds for NEGRO but was also a protest against so-called poverty programs that perpetuated the fellow blacks in a state of welfare dependency.

THIS YEAR, THE success of NEGRO enabled Dr. Matthew to file and pay his income taxes. The normal procedure under the circumstances would have been to impose a fine on him and let the matter go.

Some left-wing entertainers were never thrown into prison for refusal to pay income taxes as a protest against Federal policies. Those who have held back the portion of their taxes which would have gone to finance the Vietnam war have not been thrown into jail. The Justice Department has not taken out alter members of the new left who have blatantly refused to file and pay their incomes taxes.

The head of what is the country's largest black self-help project, however, is sentenced to six months in prison. Since he refused to plead "not guilty," the court was bound to give him some sort of sentence. But it could have been a light one and should have been suspended. Instead the Federal court threw the book at him.

A group of citizens headed by John Chamberlain, the columnist and critic, has been organized to try to win President Nixon's intercession. It is in Nixon's power to pardon Dr. Matthew or to effect his release from prison. Senators and representatives are being asked to plead Dr. Matthew's case with the White House and the Justice Department. But Congress has, and will continue to have, other fish to fry. It will not move unless the voters stir it up with letters, telegrams, and phone calls. The White House is also sensitive to the sentiments of the people.

And send encouragement to the imprisoned man via Citizens for Dr. Matthew, 890 West End Ave., New York City -- or Suite 1052, National Press Building, Washington, D.C."

NEW -- Visited the Stewart & Carey's spanking new all-glass bldg. far out on Madison Ave. early last week... and what a fine structure comprising 30,000 square feet of good solid Hoosier earth. The enormous warehouse with its many tiered stalls held large plate glass and beautiful mirrors of every conceivable size shape and design. The beautiful office walls were of ock, indirect lighting with glass doors every which-a-way. Our escort was the affable Tex Black, sales manager of the well-known Hoosier firm. "God Forgives--I Don't"--"The Oblong Box"

at Walker Theater Saturday thru Monday

A courageous man's relentless and unforgiving search for a ruthless robber even though the desperado has created a mommoth hoax virtually proving he has been killed is vividly depicted in the suspenseful outdoor action drama, "God Forgives--I Don't" American International release coming to the Walker Theater on Saturday thru Monday.

Terence Hill portrays the pursuing 'loner' who ultimately traps his quarry in the dramatic thriller with Frank Wolff essaying the role of the always, dangerous renegade. The role of an intrepid insurance detective named Earp who figures in the thrilling chase and climax of the film, is portrayed by Bud Spencer.

The lone feminine player in the featured cast of "God Forgives--I Don't" is beautiful Gina Rovere, who enacts the role of Rose.

Filmed in color, the picture was directed by Giuseppe Colizzi from his own story and screenplay.

Sexy, ash-blonde Uta Levka revealed that her vital statistics, or measurements, were 86.35 - 63.5 - 88.9 during the filming of American International's "The Oblong Box," coming on Saturday to the Walker Theater.

To puzzled listeners it must be explained she was talking about centimeters.

"I read that Britain was going over to an metric system going over to an metric system," said Minich-born Uta, "So I converted the statistics before I arrived in London to do the picture."

Transposed to understandable figures in United States terms, the exact vital statistics of the beautiful German actress who appear with Vincent Price in "The Oblong Box," are 34-25-35. All made members of the cast admitted they were all delectable inches.

Empliments are to appear at Ind. State

Naptown's newest sensation, The Empliments, will be appearing at Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Saturday night, Dec. 13, from 9 p.m. till 1 a.m.

CAPTIVATING FRENCH WENCH: Shapely and exciting Sally Geeson portrays a key role of a French maid in the employ of Vincent Price who becomes involved with a homicidal maniac in American International's "The Oblong Box." Edgar Allen Poe suspense mystery which opens on Saturday at the Walker theater.

Don't DEPEND on Mr. Charley to feed 'em. DIJA dig the peice about Arlington High...? Opened in 1961 with only one Negro student...now has a 20 percent Negro enrollment out of 2,900 students. There are 26 Negro seniors and more than 200 Negro freshmen. Most of the Negro students came from Shortridge. On a staff of about 140 teachers only 12 are Negroes...and only one of the 12 is a male. (YOU TAKE IT FROM THERE.)

Give Old Taylor for all it's worth.

When you give Bourbon why not give Old Taylor, the top-selling, premium-priced Bourbon in America. We can prove it's worth the extra money. There are about six reasons why:

OLD TAYLOR
86 PROOF

1. Old Taylor was created by Col. Edmund H. Taylor, Jr., foremost Bourbon distiller of the late 1800's.

2. People galore tried to copy Old Taylor. So, in 1909, Col. Taylor changed the color of his label to a loud and clear yellow and printed the warning below. That took care of that!

THIS YELLOW LABEL IS IN EXCLUSIVE AND CONCLUSIVE USE

3. We make Old Taylor in this castle because it's near the delicious limestone spring the Colonel discovered in 1887.

4. Old Taylor is a signed original. Another step the Colonel took to foil would-be imitators.

OF TOPMOST CLASS

5. Nothing's changed since Col. Taylor put these three words on the label. We still use the same costly small grains, tend our mash as lovingly—still do everything just as the Colonel did it.

6. Taste it and you'll know why Old Taylor is the Bourbon worth giving. And this year the sculptured holiday decanter and regular bottle come gift wrapped at no extra cost. We've even engraved the word "Bourbon" under the decanter label.

Old Taylor. What the label can't tell you, the flavor can.

from the field, 37-31.
Trailing most of the first period, the Tigers caught fire near the end of the first eight minutes and led only 17-14. But East Chicago, which must be one of the best shooting ball clubs in the state, came back to tie the game at 36-all at halftime.

The score was 59-59 after three quarters, but the Tigers took the lead for good with a minute and a half remaining at 84-80 and held on for the victory, number two for them.

Attacks shot but 413 from the field while East Chicago fired a hot 461.

Steve Easley, 6-foot-2 senior, led the Tigers with 27 points, hitting 9 of 18 from the field and 9 of 11 free throws. Giving support were Bob Whitley, 22, Gary Maxey, 19, and Wendell Taylor, 11.

The Tigers took their third win Saturday night against Vincennes, 67-50. Attacks led all the way and were tied in the fourth period after the Tigers emptied their bench.

Whitley led the Tiger attack with 20 points. Easley had 14, and Taylor 18.
The Blue Devils eased past Richmond, 61-59, in a tight contest played at the Richmond gym. Shortridge led 20-19 at the first quarter stop, but the Richmond club came back to take a 34-31 lead at halftime.
Coach George Theofanis' crew outscored the Red Devils, 17-13 and 13-12 in the final two periods to win. Dave Speckman had 20, George Tandy 15 and Charles Jordan 14 to lead the victors.

The previous night the Blue Devils crushed Ben Davis, 80-59, behind the scoring attack of nine players, led by Carl Lile, Bill Offett and George Tandy.

Washington won its first game of the young season Saturday against East Chicago, squeaking out a 69-68 win. Once again, free throws won the contest as the Continentals converted 27 of 32 free throws.

Abner Nibbs paced Coach Bill Green's club to the victory with 26 points. Harvey Galbreath had 13.

to regain his title in a 1965 title fight with Muhammad Ali. Liston, who resides here, was in complete command through the first six rounds.
Martin began to score with counter lefts and short rights to the face in the seventh and Liston bled heavily from the nose.

In the eighth, Liston cornered his Philadelphia foe but Martin came back strongly and Liston was bleeding from both the mouth and nose at the end of the round.

In the preliminary, Olympic heavyweight champion George Foreman (11-0) knocked out Bob Hazleton. Both fights were televised over ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Bayh to explore U.S. disaster relief

WASHINGTON -- Inadequacies of the nation's Disaster Relief Act will be explored in a series of congressional hearings to start in Mississippi next month.

Sen. Jennings Randolph (D.-W.Va.), chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, has designated Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh as chairman of a special subcommittee on disaster relief.

Bayh's office announced last week the subcommittee will hold hearings in Biloxi on Jan. 8 and in Fulford on Jan. 8-9. Bayh sponsored the 1966 extension of the 1950 Disaster Relief Act. He authored the 1969 act, which extended federal aid directly to individuals in the form of food stamps, home loans, money and mobile homes.

The act covers all forms of disasters, including floods, landslides and earthquakes in California, tornadoes in the Midwest and hurricanes on the East Coast.

While federal aid to disaster victims has become more extensive it might not be comprehensive enough, according to Bayh.

Recently, the NAACP charged Negroes were being discriminated against in the distribution of Disaster Relief funds in Mississippi.

At the hearings, Bayh and his subcommittee will investigate reports of discrimination disaster victims. While there are no formal complaints, his office has received letters from victims who didn't receive aid or got it very late, after the destructive hurricane Camille.

The hearings will be continued in Washington in March and Bayh will call on federal bureau heads to submit reports on their disaster relief work.

Use Xmas Seals generously on holiday mail

With the heavy mailing period for greeting cards and holiday gifts packages in full swing, leaders of the TB Christmas Seals campaign for the Marion County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association are urging local residents to use Christmas seals generously. A generous gift, they added, will be greatly appreciated by the Association which hopes to see the campaign reach the $160,000 mark this year.

As this week began, the campaign proceeds were far away from that figure, but campaign officials expressed the hope that the goal will be reached. They urged citizens to make their Christmas Seal contributions early, for early response helps to reduce the total costs of the campaign, making more money available for the important TB, emphysema and air pollution work of the organization.

The Negro in Indianapolis:

His Job

"Tuesday at 8: P.M."

Tonight's program in this series, based on the findings of a specially-commissioned survey by the WFBM Stations, reveals why job opportunities are of such concern to Negroes. Why not? Facts show Negroes with education equivalent to that of whites invariably are less successful economically. It is clear that discrimination is operative here. And it is little wonder Negroes in general consider the employment situation one of our city's major problems.

'More voice in church,' blacks told

DETROIT -- Mrs. Cynthia Wedel, the first woman president of the National Council of Churches, has pledged to grant a great deal more power in the church organization to blacks.

She predicted they would get more power in high council posts and pledged she would be open to guidance from them and from the young and poor. "Our old ways of doing things are not adequate," Mrs. Wedel said. "There must be big changes and they must be made faster than we think possible."

Mrs. Wedel, and Episcopalian, was elected Thursday near the close of the international organizational triennial general assembly. She succeeds Dr. Arthur Flemming, a Methodist, as head of the council which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

In a step toward change aimed at broadening council membership, the assembly authorized council leaders to explore with nonmember denominations their possible participation in more flexible organization. In it, members could choose what programs they want to share or avoid.

At present, all member denominations act jointly by majority determination—a feature that often causes conflict, and deepens some churches out because they object to some activities.

Mrs. Wedel, Alexandria, Va., a long-time ecumenical leader, voiced hope that the new steps would give rise to a fuller, freer form of Christian co-operation.

She won election over a Negro clergyman, the Rev. Albert Cleague, pastor of Detroit's Church of the Black Madonna, by a vote of 382 to 93.

In reaction Dr. Cleague called the council "a white racist institution," that lacks

The races mix well in Holland

AMSTERDAM -- Every Dutchman knows that more than 300,000 black, brown, or off-white colonials from Holland's crumpled East Indian empire have moved in among the canals and windmills. Not very many give it a second sensitivity to the "fires of anguish in people" and the plight of blacks, Indians and the poor.

Another black candidate, the Rev. Leon Watts, of New York and African Methodist Episcopal Zion minister, was defeated in a bid to become the council's general secretary, its top administrative post.

He lost to the incumbent, Dr. R.H. Edwin Epsy, a white Baptist, by a vote of 100 to 382.

It was the first time there had been contests over the top posts in the council's 20 year history.

thought.

The home Erasmus and Spinoza, early apostles of tolerance, has accomplished a large-scale mixing of the races against a background of world racial discord.

"They fit right in," a taxi-driver said. "We don't think much about race here. Hitler did that and look what happened to him. In 200 years, the way things are going, there will be only one race anyway."

"If they speak Dutch," a train conductor said, "that's all that matters."

Sociologists from afar have come to see how the Dutch have pulled off such a smooth job of integration. They come especially from England, where a million former colonial subjects from India, Pakistan, Africa and the West Indies have settled somewhat uneasily a few years ago.

You can see every color here and they can go anywhere. It doesn't matter to a Dutch family if a son or daughter marries a colored person as long as he speaks Dutch and is of the same intelligence.

Blacks win agreements at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. -- Seventy-five black students who seized Harvard University's main administration building Friday came out with an agreement to meet some of their demands, but they also face disciplinary action.

The six-hour invasion was led by the Organization for Black Unity, made up of Afro-American groups at Harvard.

The demands included one that contractors on Harvard construction projects be required to hire black workers for 20 per cent of the work force and that black painter's helpers be upgraded to journeyman status.

The agreement, reached between the blacks and Harvard Law School Prof. Archibald Cox, calls for establishment of a joint committee of Harvard and the OBU to see that more blacks are hired. Ernest R. May, dean of Har-

Lane Bryant hosts dinner for service awards winners

WASHINGTON -- Winners of the twenty-first annual Lane Bryant Volunteer Awards for outstanding voluntary contributions to the community were announced here recently. The recipients were honored at a dinner at the Department of State. George Romney, Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, was the featured speaker, while Raphael Malsin, president of Lane Bryant, Inc., presented the awards.

Winners of the two Lane Bryant Volunteer Awards for "work in American performed by an individual and group during 1968" were: Bronson

BRONSON GENTRY

HUGH F. DOWNEY

Gentry, individual winner, Detroit, Mich., and the Scotland Community Development, Inc., of Rockville, Md. group winner.

Co-winners of Lane Bryant International Volunteer Award are Hugh Downey of Kansas City, Mo., for his work in Ethiopia, and Sam Greene of Montclair, N.J., for his efforts in Guatemala.

Gentry received the Lane Bryant Volunteer Award for his efforts toward the preservation of his community in Detroit. Gentry, aware of the recent social and racial upheavals that had plagued Detroit, organized his neighbors into groups able to take positive action toward eliminating these social ills.

As scoutmaster of a troop he founded, Gentry also guided his young men in an exhibition aimed at curbing vandalism. He also was instrumental in organizing and directing a citizens' vigilance committee to maintain discipline on school buses.

Hugh Downey accepted the Lane Bryant Award for his work with the people of Ethiopia.

Downey went to Ethiopia as an enlisted man in the Army. A chance meeting with a priest introduced the young soldier to the poverty of the remote villages. From that moment, he was committed to teach the villagers how to combat not only the natural enemies of poverty and disease, but also the human hostilities that exist in the unsettled areas.

After Downey's discharge from the Army in 1965, he returned home long enough to marry his childhood sweetheart and to seek support from his family and friends. Then, the Downeys returned, and despite tremendous obstacles, have recorded an impressive list of achievements.

Through their efforts, ten schools, currently educating 1,000 children have been built, equipped and staffed. Ten brick-making machines have been loaned to villages to transform grass hut structures into sturdy homes. An orphanage, designed free of charge by an American firm, houses 100 orphans has been built and a public library housing over 5,000 volumes has been established.

Melvin Crawford, president of the Scotland Community Development, Inc., of Rockville, Maryland, accepted the $5,000 award on behalf of his organization.

Since the turn of the century, the resident of Rockville held onto their land, though they were living in a pocket of poverty in the otherwise affluent Montgomery County. But in 1965, the roots of their community were strained by land speculators who sought acreage to house Washington's upper middle-class.

The Scotland Community Development Corporation was formed to aid local residents in pooling their combined land holdings, selling some and building new housing on what remained. Residents designed model communities to conform with their own life styles.

With the aid of A Housing and Urban Development grant, 100 units are now being completed. As they become ready, families will take possession, and their old shacks will be demolished, thus avoiding the trauma of forced relocation. Using their own resources, hundreds of people from diverse backgrounds worked together in this way to create a climate of opportunity where they can live as economically and socially viable citizens.

Whitney Young assails attitude of middle class

The Stinging words of Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League, fell upon 1,400 persons in Philadelphia last week.

Young told his mostly white audience that he regarded the "Silent majority" as "affluent peasants."

"Their problems is," he stated, "they have forgotten how they acquired their middle class economic status. They have forgotten the picketing and boycotting and even violence they did when they were fighting for their rights."

"Whv. these same people who are standing up today, saying they don't understand why black Americans are demonstrating, these very same whites cut their eye teeth on WPA, NYA, CCC and FEIA. White Americans were the inventors of the labor movement which saw more violence and a n d demonstrations than blacks have ever done!"

The occasion was the First

Community Leadership Dinner, sponsored by the Philadelphia Crime Prevention Commission.

Young didn't give his audience a chance to shift positions in their chairs before he lambasted them some more.

"I think it has become a cliché of our times to talk about our 'present crisis'. The fact is we as a nation, in spite of our affluence, are in fact, in serious trouble," he said.

"We are in difficulty for two reasons," he continued. "First, the disenfranchisement, the disadvantaged, the invisible minorities of our society are for the first time aware of the disadvantages in their status. But more than being aware of that status, they are now aware that their status is not 'God-made,' but man-made...that they are not the victims of congenital inferiority, but the victims of historic callousness and victims of self-destruction. "And further more, they are aware of the techniques other groups used when they found themselves in similar situations."

"We have read the various accounts of how other ethnic groups rose up, whether they were revolutionists before the American Revolution, or whether they were working-class members during the labor movement, or whether they were the Irish in Boston or the Italians in Chicago, or what have you. We read how other groups rose up and through picketing, boycotting, demonstrations and even violence, achieved their rights."

"And finally," he said, "White America is going to have to tell the truth about violence in America. Violence is not the creation of black people. Black people have been the most non-violent group of people in American society, or else we have the longest time-fuse known to man."

It was not black people who killed Abraham Lincoln and John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King. It was not the black man who opposed the gun legislation. It was the Rifleman's Association. It was not the black people who planted bombs in New

The new thrust

"The Marketplace" sponsored jointly by the Business Development Center of the Indianapolis Urban League and the Young Women's Christian Association's racial justice committee was a success.

This affair, held at the YWCA Dec. 5-7, had over 1,000 people to visit the 39 booths. They purchased over $2,000 worth of merchandise. They were impressed by the items exhibited and amazed by the talents available in this community. The exhibitors were thrilled with the opportunity to show their talents, products, services, and get the exposure. Even

Young finished strating his nearly all white audience:

"White Americans need to awaken to the fact that violence is the phenomena of white America, not black America. And if we're going to help this country change itself its going to have to come from white Americans."

Young's speech was met with a standing ovation of thunderous applause.

they didn't realize there was all this talent here.

"I wished there was a Market place everyday," was the expression of George Adams, an exhibitor. Several others found out how and where to purchase supplies cheaper by talking to other exhibitors.

Miss Thelma Kennedy stated: "The exposure and being able to participate has been one of the greatest thrills in my life."

Others wanted to know when there will be another one and demanded to be informed so they can be in it.

The exhibitors were George Adams, Jay Bailey & Co., Lena Barnett, McKinney Blakes, Marshall Blueitt, Curtiss Brummer, William Bradley, Winford Cork, Eleanor Cosper, Winston Edmonds, Edna Farley, Angeless Flor-enzie, Gary Fogelson, Greenberg Bros., William Harris, Roberta Herman, Judith Hood, Joseph Hoiday, Linda Hussar, and Herbert Jamison.

Also Larabelle Johnson, Thelma Kennedy, Rev. Roosevelt Kates, Mattie Luter, M.A.C.S., Luis Morera, Randy Mosher, SCLC, Charlex

Schlefer, George VanSickles II, Arthur Smith, Mary Strade, Summit Laboratories, Peggy Washington, Betty Webster, E.N. Woodson and Madame C.J. Walker Mfg. Co.

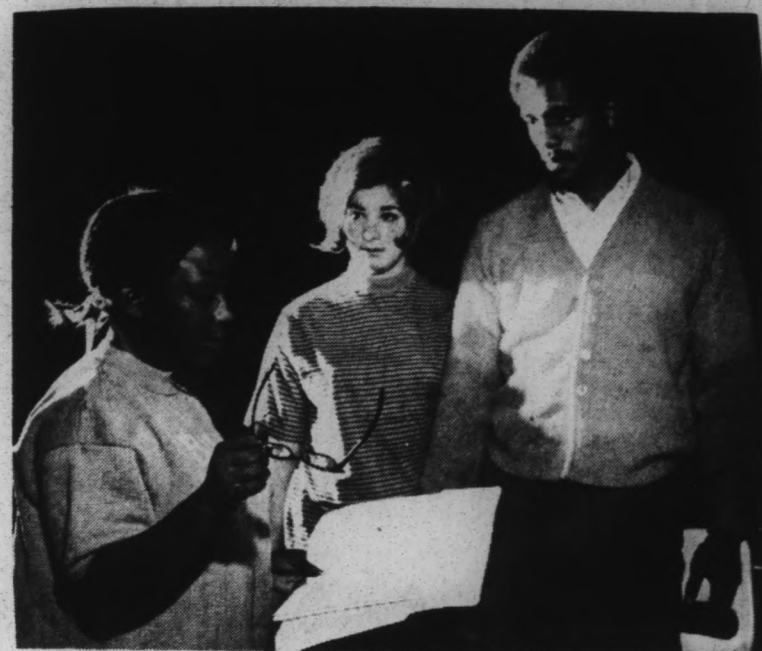

Various products were exhibited such as African arts and clothing, artificial floral arrangements, black history calendars, candles, ceramics products, cosmetic products, earrings, feather flowers, homemade flowers, hair conditioners and preparations, hats, leather goods, paintings, plastics, sculptures, and wigs.

Several services had booths too. For example, an exterminating, insurance agency, and a travel agency.

The sponsors hope this exposure will widen the market of each exhibitor. They also appreciate the cooperation of the community, exhibitors, and the publicity. Without it, this project would not have been a success.

Ball State U. students present problem play

Muncie -- Subtle violence is being done to black people everyday by generally well-intentioned whites. This is the premise of the Studio Theatre production at Ball State University, Dec. 11 through Dec. 13.

The play is Elizabeth Blake's "The Man Nobody Saw," to be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, in the Studio Theatre, T-100, English building. A second play, "Odyssey in Black and White," created by Dr. Ed Strother, Pat Bryant, director of "The Man Nobody Saw," and members of the cast, will also be performed.

A young black lawyer charges the white witnesses with the cause of the defendant's crimes. The whites are ordinary persons, neither racist nor hateful -- in sensitive perhaps, but not persons whose outrageous behavior will confirm the lawyer's charge. Are they guilty? Did they even know of the existence of the man on trail? Does their lack of awareness excuse them? These are the questions asked of the audience.

Nathan Richardson, the young black defendant, is played by Mark Hinds, Muncie sophomore, and the lawyer, by James S. Crable, Kokomo sophomore. Hinds appeared in "Icarat/Sade" and "Oedipus the King" at Ball State last year. Crable, a varsity football player, is playing his first role in a university production.

Alyce Tender, Indianapolis senior, plays Richardson's wife, and the white citizens are played by Pat Alford, Connersville junior; Lynda Martha, Pittsburgh, Pa., sophomore; Gale Sturm, freshman, and Max Mitchell, sophomore, both from Greenfield, and Steve Kirkpatrick, Crawfordsville senior.

Pat Bryant, Indianapolis sophomore, is directing "The Man Nobody Saw," assisted by Tim Cooley, Fort Wayne sophomore. Miss Bryant was in "Viet Rock" and "In White America" last year. Cooley has had roles in "The School for Scandal," "Lysistrata," "Pain" and "The Good Woman of Setzuan."

Health center is proposed on westside

Complete medical facilities will be available at the Regent Health Center and the Indiana University Medical Center.

Construction of the $8 million building is expected to begin next August. Completion of the five-story center will take about two years after work is started.

A diagnostic center, general health treatment and an outpatient clinic will be provided at the new facility.

Officials said this is the first time for this type of project by the medical center and the Health and Hospital Corp.

He further suggested that a third deputy mayor's position be created and filled by a member of one of the city's large minority groups.

Dr. Callender later ran through a list of names of minority group members which he thought were suited for such a post.
